

Privacy Policy for Melodi LTD Website

When you visit the Melodi LTD website we automatically collect information about your visit to help us ensure that each visitor to our website can use and navigate the site effectively. This information may include the internet protocol (IP) address used to connect your device to the internet, uniform resource locators (URLs) clickstream to, through and from our site, browser type and version, browser plug-in types and versions, operating system and platform.

On our website we may use cookies. Cookies are small text files that can be used by websites to make a user's experience more efficient.

The law states that we can store cookies on your device if they are strictly necessary for the operation of this site. For all other types of cookies, we need your permission. We only collect strictly necessary cookies.

This site uses different types of cookies. Some cookies are placed by third-party services that appear on our pages.

Please note we do not collect information about the following: We do not collect any "Special Categories of Personal Data" about you (e.g. ethnicity, religious or philosophical beliefs, sexual orientation, political opinions, trade union membership or biometric data). Nor do we collect information about criminal convictions and offences. We do not collect data regarding children and our Services are not aimed at or intended for the use of anyone below the age of 18 years old.

When submitting the Contact Us form, you agree for Melodi LTD to process your data in accordance with our privacy policy and retain your data for the purposes of providing you with the services that you request by submitting your contact details. You can always request your data to be deleted or reviewed by contacting us at legal@melodimedia.co.uk

In the event that you are concerned about the way your personal information is being managed by Melodi Media Ltd you should, in the first instance, contact legal@melodimedia for further information. You also have the right to complain to the Supervisory Authority (ICO at www.ico.org.uk) about our data processing activities.